

Integral's Countdown to Continued Success

SPARTANBURG, S.C. – Integral Solutions Group (ISG), a division of J M Smith Corporation, is proud to announce the countdown to the company's Tier IV Data and Business Continuity Center. The official countdown located on the company's homepage, www.integralsg.com, is the result of the company's commitment to keeping pace with the rigorous timeframes to complete the facility for the New Year, and to satisfy our clients' growing technology requirements.

"The demand for offsite data center, business continuity and hosting space from our clients is continually growing as business timeframes and regulations further mandate 24 x 365 security and uptime," comments Russ Weber, president of ISG. Weber adds, "Providing one the highest rated commercially available data and business continuity centers in the Southeast is an important accomplishment in servicing our clients' technology needs and bringing our services full circle. I am proud to say we are rapidly moving towards that goal."

The construction and development of ISG's latest offering, spearheaded by ISG vice president of integration services, Joe Strayer, showcases the company's many strengths. "Building a Tier IV Data and Business Continuity Center has been an integrated effort from many of ISG's in-house technical resources. From our RCDDs to our Network and System Integrators, utilizing our Network Design and Integration line of business has been immensely helpful."

ISG's Data and Business Continuity Center is already proving to be a worthwhile endeavor as several highly visible clients have already toured and reserved space in the state-of-the-art facility. Vice president of marketing and sales for ISG Al Gosset said, "Right now we are working with clients on migration plans into the data center. Many clients have leveraged ISG's integration services to ensure a seamless transition into their new colocation, disaster recovery and hosting environments, and they plan to move in as soon as the facility's redundancies are tested."

About Integral Solutions Group

Integral Solutions Group (ISG) is a high quality single source IT company providing Managed Services, Data Center Facilities, Network Design and Integration and Technology Supplies for fully integrated and complete IT solutions from concept to 24x365 continual customer support.

For more information about Integral Solutions Group's services please visit us at www.integralsg.com

###